Cowichan Raises Ore—and Income

Cowichan Copper is stepping up production at the Sunro mine near Jordan River on Vancouver Island—it's also raising its profits, according to president O. G. "Ozzie" MacDonald.

He says the underground mill is now putting through 1,100 tons daily and expects to increase this to 1,200 tons in the near future.

This will raise production of copper concentrates to between 2,500 and 3,000 pounds a month and put between $150,000 and $200,000 in the bank every 30 days, according to MacDonald.

He adds that the ore being mined now is grading "over two per cent."

Since the mine opened last summer, 11,000 tons of concentrates have been shipped to Mitsui & Co. of Japan which helped finance the property to production.

On Feb. 27 a 1,700-ton shipment will be loaded for Japan at Cowichan's Hatch Point dock near Cowichan Bay.

MacDonald says Cowichan should have all its debt retired by year's end.

At present, ore is being cut above the underground mill and dropped down to the crushers. Starting at the beginning of the month, a 545-foot shaft will be sunk below the mill level to tap the ore vein. The ore will be crushed to four or five inches and then raised to the mill for further treatment.
