

After the inspection of the power house, the delegates held an emergent business session, which occupied about fifteen minutes, in what is locally known as the "dugout", following which, everybody sat down to an excellent lunch which was served in the company boarding house.

After everybody had appeased the wants of the inner man, the waiting busses were once again boarded for the two-mile drive to the forebay re-

BETTER SAFE THAN SORRY

WITHIN the week four American youths have been arrested in the Greater Vancouver area and charged with luring a young girl into an automobile and later, in the outskirts of the city, committing an indecent assault. Some weeks ago two others were charged with committing a similar offense near Port Moody. Similar news from day to day records the disaster that overtakes young women who accept auto rides with strange men. It is a sordid story which loses nothing of its horror by constant repetition. One might believe that any woman of ordinary intelligence would be wise enough to avoid the snare of the "gas hawk" but experience shows there are always victims ready for the tempter.

As an adjunct to crime the motor car enjoys an unfortunate utility, which every official identified with law enforcement recognizes. No bandit feels himself equipped for his night's work until he has stolen a fast car for the getaway. The human vulture who makes it his pleasure to prey on women sits behind a powerful engine, invites his victim to ride, and the police reports tell the rest.

If there is one truth above all others which a conscientious mother should impress upon her young daughter's mind in these days it is this: Never under any circumstances anywhere accept the invitation of a strange man to ride in his auto. No matter how alluring the prospect, no matter how welcome a lift would be, as you value your safety, your good name, and the welfare of your family and friends, don't.

There is no more dangerous or detestable foe to society than the man whose pleasure is to inveigle innocent girls to their ruin. The auto is an instrument that fits his purpose precisely, offering both a lure for his victims and a means of escape for himself. He tours the streets, seeking prey and makes life in rural sections miserable by pursuit of his criminal instincts. Every agency of law should be used for his suppression and punishment.

Meanwhile, no girl with watchful parent should be left in ignorance of what to do for her own safety in the not improbable event that she is accosted by a "hawk" behind a steering wheel. No young woman old enough to have cut her eye teeth should need any further warning than her own instinct affords.

GOOD REPORTS

NOTHING has been more surprising to the opponents of public ownership than the success of the Canadian National Railways' System. The latest reports show that this success was not a temporary matter, but has been maintained and increased, so that no longer can anyone doubt that if the principles applied in its management so far are continued the success will be unabated. First of these principles is non-interference by political agencies. This is the rock on which public ownership would go to pieces at any stage of its existence and the people must always be on the watch to prevent any attempt at what would amount to scuttling the ship. One handicap that the Canadian National Railways continues to suffer from is the debt contracted by the old Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern Systems. This hangs round the neck of the Canadian National Railways most unjustly. When the railways were consolidated into the National system it should have been freed from the burden of its predecessors, just as a man who buys a bankrupt business does not assume the debts of the man who sells to him. It is the misfortune of the National Railway to have these debts stacked up against them. It is said, also, that the employees of the railway feel the incubus to be a handicap and a disheartening influence as though they were working for a dead horse. The fact is the railway is paying splendidly and but for this bookkeeping charge would be shown to be a success in every way. Canadians should be familiar with the facts of the remarkable increase in the revenue and the decrease in the ratio of operating expenses to gross earnings, or that the operating income has been sufficient to pay the fixed charges on the debt to the public, amounting to $41,810,879, with $12,000,000 over for other uses.—The Hamilton Herald.

Canadian Medical Association

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 134 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by correspondence.

Summer Diarrhoea

More babies die in Canada during the month of September than during any other month of the year. The reason for this is because so many of the babies are weakened by attacks of diarrhoea during the hot summer months, they fall victims to second attacks of the disease or to other conditions, which, in their state they are unable to withstand. In the year 1928, over 4,200 babies died as a result of diarrhoea. This means that, on an average, over eleven babies each day during the year because of this condition. There are not nearly as many deaths now from this cause as there were only a few years ago, but we are still paying a heavy death toll. The progress which has been made is practical evidence that diarrhoea can be largely prevented if we will take the necessary measures to do it.

The more serious forms of diarrhoea are due to germs which gain entrance to the body in water or other food. The reason why it occurs more frequently in warm weather and why it is commonly known as summer diarrhoea is because, when milk is warm, any germs which are in the milk grow rapidly, and when such milk is given to the babies, they receive, as it were, a large dose of germs which cause diarrhoea.

Breast-fed babies seldom have this type of diarrhoea because breast milk is practically sterile; that is, free from germs. This is one of the reasons why every child should be breast-fed. The surest and most practical way to prevent diarrhoea is to breast-feed.

For babies who cannot be breast-fed, and for older children, milk which is pasteurized should be used. If pasteurized milk cannot be purchased, then it should be pasteurized in the home. After pasteurization, every care must be taken of milk, in order to keep it cold and free from dirt and flies. Milk is a most valuable food, but it must be cared for or it is dangerous.

Mothers should realize that if a diarrhoea does occur, it is a serious condition, and the time to call a doctor is immediately, not several days later when the baby is acutely ill.

Surprise Party

Mrs. Littler was a most surprised hostess on Thursday evening last when a number of friends made an impromptu visit to her home on the new townsite. Cards, games and music were chief diversion while Mrs. Bell with card readings and Mrs. Etherington with cup readings added much to the enjoyment of those present. Winners of prizes were Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Etherington and Mrs. McLellan. A dainty supper was served. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Littler, Miss Hilda Littler, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Covert, Mrs. Etherington, Mrs. McLellan, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Chas. Walker, Mrs. Jas. Potter, Mrs. S. Day, Mrs. R. D. Brown, Annie and Alice Brown.

Paper-Makers

Nosed Out In Close Game

Cumberland, July 16.—A fine baseball game was played at the Cumberland ball park on Sunday between a Powell River team and the local nine. The locals managed to nose out by the score of 4 runs to 3, as they bunched their hits and pounded the ball all over the lot in the fatal seventh inning, scoring 3 runs and putting the game on ice.

Moyer pitched well for Cumberland, allowing only three hits, while twelve bingles were chalked up against the opposing twirler. Harper of Powell River supplied the fireworks for the day when he poled out a long home run in the 6th innings with the bases empty.

The Cumberland boys played a snappy brand of ball considering the fact that they are a newly organized club and have had very few games this year.

servoir, which point also is the terminus of the narrow-gauge railway operated by the Company for the transportation of workmen and supplies to and from the various parts of its development.

This ride entailed a climb of 1,150 feet, the road winding up the mountain which rises abruptly above the site of the power house.

The forebay is a balancing reservoir between the flume discharge and the intake of the pressure pipe line leading to the turbines in the power house, 1,150 feet below. It is composed of earth-fill dams and, at the present time, is in the process of being enlarged by some 60 per cent. in order to take care of the increased demands that will be occasioned by the installation of the fourth generating unit.

After a brief inspection, the party boarded a special train of cars, drawn by a powerful gasoline locomotive, and started on the five and one-half mile drive up the Jordan valley to the site of the main diversion dam.

This railway closely follows the winding course of the flume, which latter conducts the water from the main storage dam to the forebay. The flume, which has recently been entirely reconstructed and enlarged by 50 per cent., is of the open wooden box type, 8 feet by 7 feet in section. It is built to a constant grade of one foot in 1,000 and has a capacity of 275 cu. ft. of water per second.

During its tortuous course between the forebay and the main storage dam, the flume crosses a number of deep gulches by means of high trestles. Several of these trestles are permanent structures of re-inforced concrete. This journey occupied about half an hour and afforded some unique views of the valley and mountain scenery and, incidentally, gave the visitors some idea of the very considerable engineering problems that had to be faced and overcome while this development was under construction.

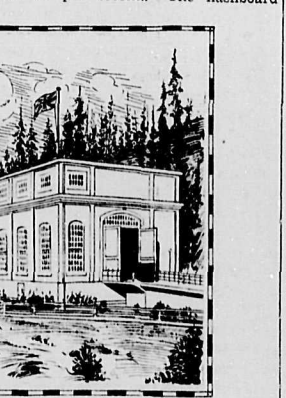

On arrival at the main storage dam, or "Diversion," the party debarrowed from the train and, after a short walk along the top of the flume, arrived at the automatic power plant built within the face of the dam. This plant was completed in the Fall of last year. It develops 2,000 horsepower, utilizing the head of water stored behind the dam. The water, after passing through the turbine wheel of this plant, discharges into the flume and is again utilized under the high-head development which had been visited before lunch.

An interesting feature of this plant is that it is entire-automatic in operation, adjusting itself, in conjunction with the main power plant, to the varying condition of the demands made upon it. It was also explained that not only will the plant regulate itself in this way, but it will automatically shut down should abnormal conditions arise and will automatically start again as soon as conditions become normal. In case of serious trouble, the plant will shut down of its own accord and remain so until an attendant has visited it and the trouble has been rectified. A series of annunciators indicate the cause of a permanent shut down, thus enabling the attendant to ascertain the trouble immediately and have the plant back on the line with a minimum of delay.

After leaving this plant, the visitors climbed the steps leading to the inspection gallery which runs the entire length of the dam and beneath the spillway, and eventually came out on the crest of the dam some 120 feet above the bed of the river.

The dam itself is a re-inforced-concrete hollow structure of the Ambursen flat slab and buttress type. It has a total length of 691 feet and a maximum height of 126 feet. The spillway is 306 feet long and provides for a maximum flood discharge of 22,000 cu. ft. per second. The flashboard structure, recently completed within the spillway, increases the impounding capacity of this reservoir by 20 per cent.

The storage capacity is 16,500 acre-feet, or the equivalent of 12,000,000 kilowatt hours at the power house. The total area flooded is 422 acres. The drainage area of the watershed is 63 square miles. The total volume of concrete in the dam is 21,600 cu. yards and a total of 390 tons of re-inforcing steel entered into this structure.

As over 7,500,000 b.m. of timber was used in the reconstruction and enlargement of the flume, a saw mill was erected on the dam site containing head-saw, planer, edger and a large dado machine, all of which were electrically operated. The necessary lumber was obtained from timber at hand within the company's own watershed limits.

An interesting hour was spent in inspecting the dam and saw-mill, after which the train was once again boarded and the return journey to the company's headquarters accomplished in good time. Here afternoon tea was served and proved to be a very welcome item in the programme at this time. After everybody had refreshed themselves, Mr. Arthur Leighton, the newly elected president of the Associated Board of Trade of Vancouver Island, tendered a vote of thanks, on behalf of the visitors, to Mr. A. T. Goward, vice-president of the B. C. Electric. Mr. Leighton said that not only had everybody enjoyed the day thoroughly, but the whole plan of the development, the engineering features, the amount of plant and equipment, etc., necessary to produce the electric power that came so easily and conveniently to the average customer, had been a revelation that they would not soon forget.

Mr. Goward replied briefly and said he was particularly pleased to have had the opportunity of having so widely representative a gathering visit the company's power development on Vancouver Island. He assured his visitors that he, personally, had enjoyed the day as much as any of them. He also reminded them that they had seen Jordan River under its most ideal conditions, when everything was running smoothly, but that there were times, especially during the winter months, when things were not quite so smooth and orderly and that at such times the giving of a continuous service was only accomplished under considerable difficulty. In this connection, Mr. Goward paid a tribute to the efficiency and loyalty of the engineering staff in charge of operations at the River.

This concluded the official part of the day's programme and the delegates then boarded the buses for Victoria, which was reached shortly after 6:30 p.m.

Delegates of the Associated Boards who visited Jordan River were: A. Leighton, P. Cowman, F. S. Cunliffe and M. C. Ironside, representing Nanaimo; G. A. Cheeke and S. J. Heald, representing Malahat; W. Walkem and E. L. Kenny, representing Ladysmith; P. L. Anderton, J. N. McLeod and E. L. Macdonald, representing Courtenay; E. W. Bickle and R. C. Lang, representing Cumberland; Captain R. P. Matheson, F. Cooke and W. J. Heald, representing Esquimalt; H. Babbington and Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, representing Saanich; H. A. McKilligan, H. L. McIntyre and Geo. A. Cochrane, representing Sidney; J. O. Cameron, S. J. Halls and Stewart Williams, representing Victoria. Regrets were received from several of the delegates who were unable to be present.

Mr. Goward was assisted in the entertainment of the visitors by the following B. C. Electric officials: G. M. Tripp, general superintendent; E. N. Horsey, resident engineer; S. J. Halls, manager, light and power department; T. R. Myers, publicity manager; D. I. Walker, superintendent, Jordan River, and J. Elliott, engineer-in-charge, Jordan River.

merit are now being considered by this Board.

Good Roads and New Roads

Mr. William Eadie and Mr. T. H. Mumford attended a special meeting of the Associated Board of Trade of Vancouver Island held at Nanaimo at which the question of roads was discussed. Our representatives supported the improving of existing roads the road to the West Coast from Alberni also the Menzies Bay Road and opposed the West Coast Road from Victoria north on the grounds that same was an unnecessary expenditure of public money.

Stages

Stage service during the early part of the year was considered inadequate. This matter was brought before the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Limited, with the result that conditions have been much improved.

Resident Provincial Police

The fact that the district surrounding Cumberland was being inadequately policed, the matter was brought to the attention of Dr. MacNaughton and I now wish to report that a Provincial Police Officer will reside in Cumberland in the future.

Change Name of Puntledge Lake to Lake Cumberland

This matter was referred to Major Aitken, Chief Magistrate, Victoria, who objected to the name being altered for historic reasons. However, from the date of the suggested change Lake Cumberland is the name by which this body of water is now generally known throughout this district, and it is hoped that this name will become universally known and finally be adopted by the Department.

Air-port

This matter is now in the hands of the Board and it is hoped that same may become a reality in the no far distant future.

Change in Road to Bevan

It is considered advisable by this Board to have certain alterations made on the Bevan-Cumberland road, thereby resulting in a better road to that town, eliminating three dangerous railroad crossings, cutting down generally the cost of upkeep of that part of the road which would be abandoned. To date the feasibility of this change has been thoroughly gone into, the survey of the new stretch has been completed and we sincerely hope to see this work carried to completion at an early date.

Better Lighting of the City Streets

This matter while discussed and still in the hands of the Board was of necessity laid aside for obvious reasons.

Stop Signals

We wish to thank the City for following our suggestion and removing the old style "alien policeman" and replacing same with more up-to-date stop signals at the street corners.

Campbell River Power Question

Your Executive Committee has had several meetings at which this matter was discussed, three of which being in conjunction with the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade, also one special meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island, held at Duncan, at which Mr. A. McKinnon represented this Board. This question is now being dealt with by the Minister of Lands.

In conclusion I wish to thank the City of Cumberland for their generosity in allowing us to use the Council Chamber, also for their donations to the Board, Mr. T. Graham, Dr. G. K. MacNaughton and Mr. A. W. Neill for their interest in and assistance to this Board, also our Vice-president, Mr. E. W. Bickle, our secretary, Mr. J. C. Brown, our Treasurer, Mr. William Eadie and the Executive Committee consisting of Messrs. T. H. Mumford, A. McKinnon, T. H. Carey, A. Henderson, W. Hudson, J. Mann, and L. L. Stevens, all of whom have been a tower of strength and have made the success of the Cumberland Board of Trade during the past year possible.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBT. C. LANG, President,
Cumberland Board of Trade.

Loud applause greeted Mr. Lang on completing his report after which he called for the report of the treasurer, Mr. Eadie who said the board started the year with a balance in hand of $11.85. During the year receipts amounted to $257.35, expenses being $186.54, leaving a balance of $76.76, which the members present thought very gratifying.

The nomination committee was then called upon for their nominees for officer for the ensuing year. Mr. Eadie as chairman reported that the following had been recommended by the committee: President, R. C. Lang; Vice-President, T. H. Mumford; Secretary, Alex. Henderson; Treasurer, Wm. Eadie; Executive Committee, E. W. Bickle, A. McKinnon, J. Mann, T. H. Carey, W. P. Symons, P. McNiven, and L. Geldt. The meeting fully endorsed the nominating committee's action, the foregoing being duly declared elected. Mr. Lang called upon Mr. Neill to say a few words.

The federal member received quite an ovation and said it afforded him very great pleasure to be present amongst them once more. He said he knew politics was barred from the activities of the Board of Trade deliberations, but what was he to say? What was he to talk about? Politics were his sole hobby. However, he said he would not talk partisan politics, as the longer he sat in the house at Ottawa, the more he was disgusted with party politics. It was a case of at present, the grills were in power and the other party wanted to get in.

Float a Lake Cumberland

Mr. Neill dealt briefly with the proposed float which had been asked for Lake Cumberland. As it was too late to have the amount wanted for the wharf set aside in the estimates he had done what he possibly could to have an amount of $2,000 set aside from the funds provided for undertakings cropping up after estimates had been passed. He had been told by a cabinet minister that the wharf would be built, but he never trusted a cabinet minister, until the promise became an actuality, and mentioned several instances to back up his statement. However, he really believed that the work would be undertaken in the near future and said Mr. Forde would probably give them more information on the matter.

The Coal Industry

In speaking of the coal industry and what the government had done and what they hoped to do in respect to experiments with pulverized coal, he touched briefly on the debate which occurred in the house a few weeks ago and which, said Mr. Neill, was fully reported in the Islander.

Other matters touched upon by Mr. Neill included the arrangements and improvements made at the Royston wharf, the hours at the government telegraph offices, the opening on Sundays for a period of six months, of the lobby at the Courtenay Post Office enabling box holders to have access to their mail boxes on Sundays. The Fraser River Sockeye Salmon fishing, the introducing of fish traps in northern B. C. Waters, a matter which he opposed most strenuously and the $50,000.00 subsidy for the lumber interests, which would materially help the market with Australia. The perennial subject of the divorce bill was also spoken of by the member and the proposal to increase the salaries of the members.

Proceeding in a very humorous vein, Mr. Neill spoke of the social side of the politicians life at Ottawa. Keeping the gathering in roars of laughter. Before concluding his very interesting talk, Mr. Neill suggested one thing to them, in fact he said he would invite them all to go to the Conservative picnic at Courtenay on August the 3rd and hear Mr. R. B. Bennett a man who was reputed to be worth forty-three million dollars. They would be able to see what a man of such wealth looked like, what he had to speak of, his aims and ambitions. They would hear a very able speaker, in fact a polished speaker, and a brilliant lawyer and probably some time, prime minister of Canada.

He also urged them to go and hear the Hon. Mr. Motherwell, the minister of agriculture who would be in the district shortly and, whilst not being as polished a speaker as the leader of the opposition, well worth listening to. He thanked them all for their kind attention and wished the board of trade every success.

Mr. J. P. Forde, the district engineer was next called upon. He said he was not an orator like Mr. Neill and as the member for Comox-Alberni had said, it was usually the thing to start a speech with a joke, but as Mr. Neill had told them, he was somewhat at a loss how to begin. In speaking of the proposed float at Lake Cumberland, Mr. Forde produced a plan which he had prepared showing the sections of the approach to the float which he thought would take care of traffic until such times as the money was voted for the complete structure. He said if the money was voted his department would lose no time in getting the work done. He asked if at any time there was anything the board would like to suggest or offer any criticism of the work undertaken by his department he would be only too pleased to have it. He welcomed suggestions or criticism and if it was sound at all possible, the same would be accepted in the same spirit in which it was offered and fully considered.

Others speakers included Mr. Montagu Bruce, the past president of the Associated Boards of Vancouver Island, Mr. P. Leo Anderton, Mr. McPherson and Mr. Douglas of the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade, and Dr. G. K. MacNaughton, member for Comox district in the provincial house.

During the evening, the president of the local board of trade extended his sincere thanks to the officers and executive of last year for their very great help and Mr. Alex. Henderson the new secretary intimated that he would do all in his power to further the interests of the Cumberland board of trade.

The singing of God Save the King brought a very successful meeting to a close.

BEVERAGES FOR VACATION TIME

by Betty Barclay

Do you ever heed the pleadings of a little son or daughter and furnish a cooling drink in the middle of the afternoon? It may be a lemonade, an orangeade, a fruit punch an egg nog, a ginger ale punch, a mint julep, or any one of dozens of famous summer beverages. Children have their favorites, but almost any cooling drink will bring smiles to their faces at any time—and particularly during the strenuous, hot days of vacation.

There is much more of real value to a little treat of this kind than many mothers appreciate. The fruit used in the drink furnishes much that is beneficial in the line of minerals and salts. The liquid itself takes the place of that lost through perspiration. The sugar, used as a sweetening agent, gives greater zest to the fruits used, and because it is a highly concentrated source of human energy it helps to provide the vim, vigor and vitality that makes children the bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked little beings that they are.

So furnish the kiddies with plenty of cooling drinks this summer—not filled with ice but cooled, so that they will be relished—and furnish the adults with the same or more elaborate beverages, as you see fit. Tinkling pieces of ice fit more appropriately into the adult drink, for adults are more prone to sip their tasties slowly. For children, it is usually well to set the beverage aside to cool on ice, rather than to serve it with ice.

In the car, at the picnic ground, while hiking or when on a camping trip, fruit drinks are very desirable. They may be carried from home in a vacuum bottle, or made on the spot—provided one is sure the water is pure. When well sweetened they serve as energizing foods as well as thirst quenching beverages. Here is a trio that will prove particularly pleasing:

Fresh Orangeade

1/2 cup sugar
2 1/2 cups water
2 cups orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind 1 orange
Boil sugar water, and orange rind

Plans to Save

Service

Notified of an impending blasting job near Langley Prairie on May 31, a telephone man strung temporary lines along the ground around the scene to take care of the service until the copper long-distance wires, probable victims of the blast, could be replaced.

Bang went the explosion! down went the copper wires. But service was carried on via the temporary lines.

Everything went smoothly, just as planned, until a road roller ran over the temporary wires, with the result that the direct circuits from Vancouver to Abbotsford and from Vancouver to Langley were out for two and a half hours.

TOURISTS FLOCKING TO CAMPBELL RIVER

Fishing Reported to Be Good

Campbell River—Summer holiday makers from many cities in various parts of Canada and the United States are arriving in the district. Among the cars that have come to Campbell River some have been from Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, California, Oregon, Washington and Ohio. Some of the tourists have been here in other years; many are making their initial tour of this part of Vancouver Island, but all have thoroughly enjoyed their outing. The fame of Elk Falls have spread far and wide and the first questions residents of Campbell River are asked, particularly by first timers is "where are the falls we have heard so much about?" Then when homeward bound they have invariably said they were glad they had not missed viewing the most wonderful waterfall in Western Canada. Last week end there were forty cars at Upper Campbell Lakes and a lot of fish were caught.

Fishing Is Good

The fishing fleet is busy in the vicinity of Cape Mudge, one carrier belonging to the Quathiaski Cove Cannery coming in last Saturday with fifteen hundred bluebacks. Thirty cents is being paid for these fish. A number of springs have been caught here by sportsmen. The largest one to date weighed 34 pounds. Several others over the twenty-pound mark have been brought in. On Saturday morning C. W. Dunn, a New Yorker, who has been spending a holiday in this district was successful in landing five nice springs near the mouth of the river.
