JUSTICE FOR NELSON.

The decision arrived at last evening by the Wholesalers' Association to lay the case for revision of C.P.R. freight rates before the dominion railway commission was a wise one. It will show the railway corporation that the business men of this city have confidence in the reasonableness of their demands and that they are not afraid to submit the facts to an impartial tribunal. This course, too, will have the effect of allaying any opposition that might possibly be fostered in outlying districts by interests hostile to the building up of Nelson as a wholesale centre. The railway commission will grant no special concessions, it will not tolerate discriminatory rates, it will only order such a revision of freight tariffs as will give to Nelson the advantages its geographical position entitles it to, and that is all the wholesalers want.

This question is not one in which the wholesale men and jobbers alone are interested. If the ends sought by those who have so far taken an active part in this movement be obtained every retail merchant, every large importer of goods of any kind from the east will be benefited. To the retail merchants in particular the modifications in freight rates asked for will prove of material advantage. Today it is a well known fact that Calgary and Winnipeg stores are able to undersell Nelson merchants in the mining and lumbering camps of the Kootenays simply by reason of the discriminatory freight rates. There is a large field for the retailers of Nelson in these camps, not touched by the wholesalers, if rates can be secured that will give them an equal opportunity with Calgary and Winnipeg houses.

The struggle now in progress is one in which every citizen of Nelson should be willing and glad to cooperate. Every assistance, financial and otherwise, should be generously accorded the Wholesalers' Association and the Board of Trade in the policy they have decided

ST. EUGENE TO RESUME.

James Cronin, manager of the St. Eugene mine, telegraphs The Daily News that on Monday next preparations will be commenced for the resumption of active operations at the mine. The management believe the dominion government will grant the request of the Associated Silver-Lead Mines, now that it has been endorsed by the boards of trade of southern British Columbia, to pay the bonus on a limited tonnage of surplus lead ore exported out of Canada for treatment. In this belief the mine is at once to be got in shape for active operations, so that directly word is received from Ottawa that the request has been granted a large force of men can be put to work and shipments made without unnecessary delay.

Within a short while after active operations have been commenced there will be working in and about the great St. Eugene mine between three and four hundred men and the monthly pay-roll will average somewhere in the neighborhood of $30,000. The town of Moyle will take on new life and every part of southern Kootenay will be benefited by the improved conditions.

Now that the dominion government have been advised of the absolutely unanimous wish of the people of southern British Columbia in this matter there can be no doubt that early assent to the proposed modification in the terms of the lead bounty will be given.

The stimulus to the lead mining industry anticipated by the resumption of active operations at the St. Eugene mine and the increased output from the other lead producing mines of this section will, it is believed, place it upon a permanently prosperous basis and hasten the time when it will be necessary to proceed with the enlargement of existing smelting plants in the province and the erection of additional plants at Fernie and other suitable locations.

The desirability of having a postoffice inspector located at some point in the interior has been made specially obvious during the past few days owing to the blockade, through snow and mud slides, on several lines of railway operating in the Kootenays. Mails that have been tied up in Nelson for several days could have been forwarded to their destinations had there been any official here whose business it was to see that no unnecessary delays occur in the disposition of the mails. Whilst, for instance, the Slocan branch has been and is tied up, there is no reason why mail for several Slocan points could not have been sent out from Nelson by way of Robson and Nakusp. The same thing applies to other points in the Kootenays and Boundary. An inspector conversant with the situation could save many delays and much annoyance and loss to business men. This is a matter that merits more attention than it has received at the hands of the business men of Kootenay. This section of the province contributes the lion's share of federal revenues and its convenience should be considered in the appointment of dominion officials. Inspectors resident in Vancouver or Victoria neither know nor care what inconveniences the people of the interior suffer by reason of demoralized mail service. If the facts were properly presented to postmaster-general Mulock we believe he would readily admit the justice of the claim that at least one of the dominion postoffice inspectors should have his headquarters either at Revelstoke or Nelson, where he would be in close touch with the requirements of the most important portion of the province and able to act expeditiously in circumstances such as prevail today.

Prof. McBurn's assembly will be held on Thursday evening of next week.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

W. Dawkins was accidentally killed at Five-Mile near Ferguson, a few days ago. Dawkins was working with a timber gang a short distance from a spot where rock blasting was in progress. One of the charges fired must have been heavier than usual, as a rock was hurled by the explosion to the place where the timber men were working, and Dawkins, who was unfortunately standing in the path of the missile, received terrible injuries in the region of his heart, which caused instant death.

A HUGE SNOWSLIDE.

W. E. Koch Tells of a Large One Near Silverton.

W. E. Koch, who has just returned from a visit to the Slocan, describes a number of slides he has seen since he left this city several days ago. One of these slides he describes, is a regular heavy. The particular slide he says, is known to the people of Silverton as the Standard slide. It came from a well supplied snowfield and on the journey down into the valley it had to pass through a narrow canyon. When it got out of the mouth of the canyon it spread out on the gentle slope like a huge and handsome fan. It is 800 feet wide.

At the sides it is twelve feet high and in the centre it towers up 80 feet. A number of the people of Silverton have inspected the slide during the past two or three days.
It is made up principally of snow, although there is some gravel and debris in it.
The Standard slide about five years since was the scene of several fatalities.
A number of men were engaged in clearing it away when a second edition of the slide came down the gorge and although all hands ran for their lives, four or five were caught and were swept down and killed.

THE NICKLE PLATE SMELTER.

There has been of late persistent reports in circulation that the Daly Reduction Co., of Hedley, had been offered and accepted, 500 acres of land near Oro south of the boundary line. Whether the report be true or not the fact of its existence indicates that the smelter site at Hedley is still an unsettled question. Should the company, with its almost unlimited financial resources and expressed desire to use them in immense industrial mining operations in the Similkameen, be allowed to build across the line because of disputed rights to a few acres of ground, an irreparable blunder will have been committed.
The Rossland folly of driving an industry across the border to Northport, whereby some 2,000 souls with their sustenance were lost to the former, must not be repeated here. The Daly people are anxious to locate at Hedley and 50 out of every 100 other persons are most emphatically in favor of keeping the industry in the country.—Similkameen Star.

laid on from the nearest hydrant, just to the east of the station, but all the available hose only went barely half way up the wharf and other hose was sent for.
The C. P. R. men bringing along a quantity of the company's hose. Meantime an engine was backed down to the scene and all the water that could be spared from the tank was turned on the blazing timbers. Chief Steele organized a bucket brigade and water was passed up from the lake and thrown on the fire and after about an hour's hard work the fire was put out, without the aid of the hose. By the time the fire was conquered fully 1000 feet of hose was stretched out but more was required before the water could be turned on with any hope of reaching the fire.

But little damage was done and no delay will be necessary for trains reaching the end of the dock, but for a distance of about 20 feet, new wharf timbers will eventually have to be put in.
While the fire brigade was stretched out along the wharf feeding the fire or bringing along fresh supplies of hose, a northeast wind was blowing at nearly the speed of a gale making it difficult for any one to stand upright on the wharf. All over the city, in the gray dawn of the morning, there was a cloud of dust, high up in the air caused by the wind and had by any unhappy chance, a second fire started in the eastern section of the city the consequences might have been unpleasant. Chief Steele, in view of possibilities had a portion of the hose detached and wound up, ready for any emergency.
Had the C. P. R. had a hand fire engine available the fire yesterday morning could have been extinguished in a few moments.

DAILY MAIL SERVICE.

Gallagher Working Hard to Help His Lar-gean Constituents.

According to letter recently received from W. A. Gallagher, our representative in the dominion parliament, by G. R. Nor-they, secretary of the Cambovie trades committee, it appears that a daily mail for the Leardene is practically assured, says the Cambovie Miner.

Mr. Gallagher is working hard in the matter, and has interviewed the deputy postmaster-general who stated that the matter would receive the immediate attention of the postal department. Mr. Gallagher has not yet interviewed the postmaster-general owing to that official being confined to his house by sickness.

Mr. Gallagher admires the combined and heavy manner in which this postal reform has been taken up by residents of the different towns of the Leardene, and outside cities, and finds that the endorsements of the several boards of trade and other bodies to be of much assistance to him in procuring the much needed change in the postal service, and says that if the daily mail should not be granted it will not be an account of any inattention on his part for he is working tooth and nail to secure the desired end, but does not think there need be any fear as to the result.

There are 12 men at work on the Hewitt near Silverton. Since January 1st the Hewitt has shipped 11 carloads of ore. The poorest ore shipped went 111 ounces in silver to the ton. Seven cars of the ore gave returns of nearly $9,000. In this mine there is blocked out 100,000 tons of zinc ore, which will be mined just as soon as a concentrating mill is constructed. It is said that this will be done just as soon as the new company obtains control of the mine. Mc Davys has a deal on for the sale of the mine.

A searching examination is essential in buying diamonds. First get prices from various dealers—compare the color, the cutting, the degree of perfectness, and the price per carat—that's the way to buy diamonds.
